HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

Many laws, regulations, and ordinances passed by federal, state, and local governments require a publication in a legal newspaper. This Legal Notice Digest is intended solely as a guide to the requirements imposed by one of these governments in one area: state statutory law through the 2011 Legislative Session. This guide includes most publication requirements imposed by state statute as well as information about how to count legal notices and create proofs of publication. It does not, however, cover federal or local laws, regulations, ordinances, or resolutions nor state resolutions or regulations. You can print the PDF files for easy reference and return to this website for continuing updates.

A newspaper cannot and should not give legal advice. OPA's Legal Notice Digest is not legal authority, but merely information to help newspapers better serve their customers. The customer is responsible for ordering a publication that meets state statutory or other legal requirements. This resource can provide guidelines to facilitate knowledgeable discussion with customers who order publications required by state statutory law.

NEED FOR PUBLIC NOTICES

Why do we need public notices?

Citizens must have access to information concerning government activities and civil proceedings. Legal notices published in newspapers provide this opportunity since the public has a right to know. These publications are an effective instrument because they have become the traditional source of public notices. Newspapers function as a neutral third party and are objective in their publishing of legal notices.

Three Types of Public Notices:

- 1. CITIZEN PARTICIPATION NOTICES allow the public the time and opportunity to respond to proposed government action. These notices also fulfill the requirement of "prior notice required for due process of law" found in Federal and State constitutions. Such notices include notices of public hearings, intentions to create new taxation or benefit zones, and publication of local budgets.
- 2. BUSINESS AND COMMERCE NOTICES are related to government contracts and purchases. Such notices verify that the government is following the principles of equal opportunity and allow the public to verify that the government is not misusing taxpayers' money.
- 3. COURT NOTICES are prepared by non-governmental bodies. Notices to creditors, and claims on probated estates serve as notification to the public and allow time for a response, objection or assertion of a claim.

MESSAGE

from the Oklahoma Press Association's Executive Vice President

Dictators and tyrants don't do public notice. They don't have budget hearings, or delinquent tax lists, or take bids before expenditure of public funds. There are no warning or accountability notices in a world governed by despots. However, in our system the government warns the governed when it is about to take action that affects their life, liberty or pursuit of happiness. It has been that way since the Founding Fathers penned the Declaration of Independence, and will continue as long as the people expect warnings and accountability from their government.

Legal notices are important and should be handled with care. Newspapers, public bodies and persons placing legal notices must remember this simple truth.

OPA receives many calls about legals. This guide should help answer questions about state laws, definition of a legal newspaper, what public bodies are required to pay, and more. OPA has published this information in years past and began making it available on the OPA Web site in 2006. We hope you find it easy to use and understand.

We must not underestimate the importance of public notices and the care with which they should be handled. The public depends on us.

Mark Thomas,
OPA Executive Vice President

DEFINITION OF A LEGAL NEWSPAPER

Title 25, Okla. Statute 106

(Effective November 1, 1983)

No legal notice, advertisement, or publication of any kind required or provided for by the laws of this state to be published in a newspaper shall have force or effect unless published in a legal newspaper of the county. A legal newspaper of the county is any newspaper which, during a period of one hundred four (104) consecutive weeks immediately prior to the first publication of such notice, advertisement or publication:

1. has maintained a paid general subscription circulation in the county; and
2. has been admitted to the United States mails as paid second-class mail matter; and
3. has been continuously and uninterruptedly published in the county.

If there is no legal newspaper in a county, then all legal notices, advertisements, or publications of any kind required or provided for by the laws of this state shall be published in a legal newspaper in an adjoining county of this state, which newspaper has general circulation in the county or political subdivision in which such notice is required.

Nothing in this section shall invalidate the publication of such legal notices, advertisements, or publications in a newspaper which has moved its place of publication from one location in the county to another location in the same county without breaking the continuity of its regular issues for the requisite length of time, or the name of which may have been changed when said change of location was made as permitted by United States postal laws and regulations.

Failure to issue or publish said newspaper for a period of fourteen (14) days due to fire, accident or another unforeseen cause, or by reason of the pendency of mortgage foreclosure, attachment, execution, or other legal proceedings against the type, presses, or other personal property used by the newspaper, shall not be deemed a failure to maintain continuous and consecutive publication as required by the provisions of this section, nor shall said failure invalidate the publication of a notice otherwise valid.

Failure to issue or publish a newspaper qualified to publish legal notices, advertisements, or publications of any kind, for a period totaling not more than fourteen (14) consecutive days during a calendar year shall not be deemed a failure to maintain continuous and consecutive publication as required by the provisions of this section, nor shall said failure invalidate the publication of a notice otherwise valid.

Laws 1943, p. 85, § 1; Laws 1949, p. 213, § 1; Laws 1967, c. 63, §1, eff. April 17, 1967; Laws 1969, c. 43, § 1 emerg. eff. Feb. 20, 1969; Laws 1973, c. 5, § 1, emerg. eff. March 6, 1973; Laws 1983, c. 22, § 1, eff. Nov. 1, 1983.

ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINIONS

1981 OK AG 181, ¶ 5

“It is ... the official opinion of the Attorney General that in order to qualify to publish an effective legal notice under 25 O.S. Supp. 1973, § 106 (1973), a newspaper must not only be published for one-hundred four (104) consecutive weeks immediately prior to the publication of the notice, but must also for that same period, meet the other qualifications set out in Subsection (a) through (d) of that statutory section.”

2002 OK AG 10, ¶ 25

“1. ‘admitted to the United States mails as paid second class mail matter’ refers to periodicals publications.

“2. A newspaper cannot be a legal newspaper in more than one county in this State when the other county has at least one legal newspaper.

“3. Except where an adjoining county has no legal newspaper, ... the newspaper of a county is only a legal newspaper in the county where the original entry for periodicals mailing privileges is authorized. ...

“4. A newspaper that accepts legal notices is required to publish legal notices in every edition or copy of the newspaper that is published on the day of the notice.”

OTHER FREQUENTLY USED SECTIONS OF OKLA. STATUTE TITLE 25

§ 101. Daily paper defined

Any newspaper which is regularly published as often as five (5) days in each week shall be considered to be a daily newspaper. This section shall apply to publications heretofore made.

§ 103. Sufficiency of publication of legal notices

It shall not be necessary to publish a legal notice, when published in a daily newspaper or in a semiweekly newspaper, in every issue thereof, but it shall be sufficient to publish such notice one (1) day each week during the required period of publication. Said one (1) day of publishing legal notice each week may be any day of the week in which the newspaper is published but the said legal notice must appear in said newspaper on the same day each week during the required period of publication as it was originally published.

Legal notices, within the meaning of this act, shall include all notices, the publication of which is provided for by some law of the State of Oklahoma.

§ 104. Change of name of newspaper

It shall be lawful for any legal newspaper now published in this state to change the name of such newspaper, without removing from the city of its publication, and without losing its qualifications to carry legal notices; provided, that said newspaper has been published for sufficient time and is already otherwise qualified to carry legal advertising; and provided, further, that it shall carry the new name of such paper as successor to the name theretofore used by it for a period of at least one (1) year; and providing, further, that all legal notices running in said paper at the date of such change shall be completed and as valid as though no change had been made.

§ 108. Proof of publication

Any publisher or any authorized employee of any newspaper making proof of publication by affidavit of any legal notice, advertisement, or publication of any kind, required or provided by any of the laws of the State of Oklahoma shall specifically set forth in said affidavit that said newspaper carrying said notice, advertisement or publication, comes within the prescription and requirement of Section 1 of this act.

§ 112. Change in frequency of publication — Status as legal newspaper

Any newspaper qualified to publish legal notices and advertisements as a legal newspaper, as defined in 25 O.S. Supp. 1967, Section 106, may change its frequency of publication without losing its status and qualifications as a legal newspaper to publish all legal notices and advertisements so long as said newspaper complies with the provisions of 25 O.S. Supp. 1967, Section 106.

§ 113. Publication in newspaper published in county, but not at county seat

In all cases under the statutes of this state where publication of any notice or advertisement is required to be made in a newspaper published in the county seat of any county, and there is no legal newspaper published in such county seat, it shall be sufficient for such notice to be published in any newspaper published in the county which shall comply with the requirements of 25 O.S. 1951, Section 106.

§ 114. Validation of publication elsewhere than at county seat

All publications of notices or advertisements, required by law to be published in a newspaper published in the county seat of any county, which publications or advertisements were made in a newspaper published in the county and complying with the requirements of 25 O.S. 1951, Section 106, and at such time there was no legal newspaper published in the county seat, hereby are validated.

Additional Note Regarding Deposit Fees:

In all cases in courts of record, in which notice by publication is required or requested, the court clerk shall collect $25 at the time of filing of the petition as a deposit, or the clerk may accept proof of a direct billing agreement. § 28 O.S. § 156.

SAMPLE PROOF OF PUBLICATION

Newspapers usually provide a proof of publication after a legal notice has been published. This allows the government and other bodies to verify that the notice was published and to have proof of that publication. The Oklahoma Press Association recommends that signatures on all proofs of publication should be original and that stamped signatures should be avoided.

PAGINATED PROOFS OF PUBLICATION

For decades legal notices were cut from the newspaper and pasted onto affidavits, but times have changed. Today it is recommended that a digital copy of the legal notice be placed on the blank space of your Proof of Publication form, or attached as a separate piece of paper. You can copy the text from your pagination program (such as InDesign or Quark) into the blank space on your Proof of Publication form, or on an 8 1/2 x 11 sheet of paper. Additional pages, numbered and submitted in order, may be used for longer notices.

Fully paginated proofs of publication are accepted by the government and other entities. If a proof of publication is contested, the actual clipping would be required. The completeness of your newspaper's file storage of previous issues should determine if you proceed with fully paginated proofs.

Map Pricing

The space occupied by the map should be calculated as tabular lines. The number of tabular lines per inch depends on your paper's type size and leading. Measure the number of lines per inch in a text notice printed in your paper. Most legal sections print between 8 and 12 lines per inch. Measure the map after it is printed to determine its height in inches. Multiply the height by your paper's lines per inch to determine the number of tabular lines occupied by the map, then multiply it by the number of columns and the insertion rate.
